Jaguar X308 - The Evolution success

The Jaguar X308 is the result of a long development: The car started as the X300 and it was 11 years before it received a facelift as part of the newly developed eight-cylinder Jaguar. The perceived style of the X300 was considered as not really fitting the Jaguar marque. The XJ40 took over, based substantially on the existing technology and the familiar 6 - and 12 - cylinder engines. The X300 adopted the design innovations of the XJ40, losing the angular shape and the square headlight in favour of a return to a smoother and more classic style. This X300 with the classic lines of the luxury saloon restored their original clientele. Since February 1995 there were minor changes to the body styling but in the spring of 1997 the X308 with major design changes became the successor to the X300. Effectively an X300 with a V8 engine. The eight-cylinder engine was unusual for Jaguar and is worth closer examination: After the takeover by Ford in 1990, it was realised quickly that the Jaguar engine pool had to be replaced urgently. The elderly inline six-cylinder and the V12 cylinder engines were very expensive to manufacture, complicated to maintain, and were struggling to meet the increasing demands of environmental compatibility. The Ford view was that the newly developed Ford Modular V8 engine could be simply tucked under the Jaguar hood. Jaguar engineers were opposed to this and convinced Dearborn that Jaguar clients would not accept a U.S. power unit. The result was the development of the Jaguar Compact V8 engine, which was accepted worldwide by customers due to its outstanding characteristics. The AJ26 product with its 4-litre capacity is an up-to-date product: plastic intake manifold, four camshafts and 32 valves resulting in a weight of only 200 kg to provide more than 300hp. All this without the usual but inappropriate eight cylinder bubble. The AJ-V8 engine is accepted since the mid-90s as the backbone of the Jaguar engine pool. The engine was built by Jaguar, presented in the XK8 in 1996, then renovated in the X300, returning for the X308. In the Ford range, the engines were still adapted from the Aston Martin, Land Rover and Lincoln. From February 1997, the first prototypes of the X308 were spotted on the road. On September 11, 1997, the X308 was presented to the public at the IAA in Frankfurt. The vehicle was available with a 3.2 litre, 4.0 litre or 4.0 litre supercharged and with 276 kW. Manual transmission was not available, and the system came as the ZF in most cases. The X308 was launched with a completely new interior design, a modified instrument panel and new upholstery. The last design traces of the XJ40 were replaced. There were two essentially different model lines, one based on comfort line with XJ8, Sovereign and Daimler, and Vanden Plas. The other line addressed the sport style and XJR models. Even the entry model XJ8 had leather interior and expansive wooden interior trim. Top of the range were the Sovereign and Daimler models. All vehicles were available in two wheelbases. The XJ8 sport models differed primarily by matte black trim, but the XJR - the second model of the sporty line was designed to attack the BMW market: 18" wheels accommodated huge Brembo brakes and the above mentioned supercharged 4.0 ltr. compressor motor gave a competitive acceleration of less than 5 seconds to 62 mph. This all went eye to eye with the then current BMW M5. The last manufacture was in 2002, commemorating the 100th Birthday of Sir William Lyons. 500 copies of the XJR 100 had a level of equipment and power which was the peak of the series: 19 "inch wheels from BBS, further enlarged Brembo brakes and a sporty two-tone interior styling. But time was running out for the X308. From the beginning of 2003 the successor was ready in the newly designed and technically advanced X350 with an aluminum body. A total of 126.260 units of the X308 were made to December 2002. The last were sold in 2003.

General certification (ABE)

Please note for all repair and conversion work on a motor vehicle, the statutory provisions relating to road safety and operating permits pertain. We offer in our catalogue, parts that are not approved for road transport and may only be installed in vehicles that are used on the racetrack. In addition, the tax and insurance-related treatment depends on a vehicle being in its original state. An article listed here does not necessarily have a general operating permit. Depending on the type of part the comparison to the original factory version is important. If in doubt please contact the competent licensing authority or any government-approved testing agencies like the German TUV or DEKRA).

As a result of problematic timing chain tensioner design and other factors like engine overheating or poor maintenance, the plastic cam chain tensioners on 1997 to 2002 V8 Jaguars began to experience stress fractures, and so did some of the plastic guides. While the cars were under warranty, many tensioners were replaced by Jaguar service departments with improved components. Engines subject to this problem include XJ8/XJR engines with the last six digits of their VIN numbers between 812317 and F41862. In the 2002 model year Jaguar began installing upgraded plastic tensioners. These second-generation units are, to the best of our knowledge, more reliable than the early version.

These so-called stretch bolts are specifically designed to give a set length under the right torque. As such they should never be used a second time. The desired bias requires careful installation. The cylinder head bolts are assembled in several stages with a specific tightening torque. When this torque is reached, the bolts are turned further through a defined angle which pre-loads them into a plastic region. We recommend that new cylinder head stretch bolts be used and any work carried out to your engine is done in accordance with a factory workshop manual. Whilst you are doing this job we consider it advisable to replace the water pump and expansion cap to minimise any future problems.

Did you know... ?

The crankshaft sensor is an inductive type sensor. It consists of a magnet and a coil wound around the magnet. It is triggered by reference points passing the sensor tip. The reference points can be pins mounted to the flywheel in the form of a trigger disc or reluctor. These will divide the 360 degrees rotation of the engine into segments that the engine control can use for the ignition system or for the start of injection. Each time a reference point passes the tip of the sensor it disturbs the magnetic field creating an AC voltage in the coil. The AC voltage is sent as a signal voltage back to the engine control unit. The crankshaft sensor or engine speed sensor will have 2 or 3 pins. The 3rd pin is used for a screen. The screen suppresses any interference. The engine management light will be triggered if the crankshaft sensor moves outside of normal operating values. A fault with this sensor may inhibit engine startup.

Modern fuels attack the metal parts of the fuel supply systems. This problem applies especially to older vehicles, because in modern cars, for good reasons, more and more plastic tanks are used. The second problem relates to biogenic fuels and mixed fuels. This problem applies to owners of all ages of cars and modern cars too. In modern fuels bacteria grow in unprecedented quantities. This produces a lot of dirt, especially when the vehicle is not in regular use. The pipes gradually get blocked and the tank becomes contaminated with dirt. Rather than the drastic measure of replacing the entire fuel supply system, regular use of Bactofin will reduce the problem considerably. For vehicles which normally operate with lead-replacement or top oil, using Bactofin is just as easy and will give owners peace of mind. Bactofin also prevents any corrosion of the fuel system. Rust is completely inhibited!

React Performance DOT 4

1 litre bottlePart no. 472095

Castrol React Performance DOT 4 is a high boiling point polyglycol type brake fluid designed to provide superior braking performance in a variety of vehicles, especially those that operate at higher temperatures or under increased loads. The product has been formulated to give outstanding system protection against corrosion and high temperature vapour lock.

Castrol React Performance DOT 4 is suitable for use in all brake fluid systems in cars, motorcycles and light commercial vehicles requiring either a DOT 3, DOT 4 or Super DOT 4 product (excluding where a mineral oil based fluid is specified). Castrol React Performance DOT 4 can be used with either disc or drum brakes, including modern vehicles fitted with ABS systems. The product is also suitable for use in hydraulic clutch systems.

The new Aluminium Devil Special® is an acid-free, modern highly efficient wheel rim cleaner. This cleaner easily removes persistent and extreme pollution of the light metal and steel rims, chromed rims and hubcaps/decorative trims. The new acid-free formula is an absolute self-cleaner. When used properly, rim surfaces and wheel bolts are not pitted. In addition, Aluminium Devil Special® strongly protects all metals. Aluminium Devil Special® is recommended for regular cleaning of the above mentioned rims.

Did you know... ?

LCD stands for Liquid Crystal Display. These are not the self-lit displays using LEDs - light emitting diodes, which were popular up to the 80's in watches, calculators and also in car instruments. The activated segments of an LCD could represent numbers, or other symbols to provide a clear information display. The classic LCD display has now given way to LCD monitor and the TFT (Thin Film Transistor) display which now have a permanent place and are found in most centre consoles.

Did you know... ?

The driver is not the only vulnerable person on the road. We have to have a partnership with pedestrians and improve coexistence. This can be improved by the shape of the front of vehicles to improve the kinetics of impact with pedestrians. A major element is the hood ornament which should not resist impact but with the use of predetermined breaking points should be easily removed. Replacement is easy from our range.

Convex mirrors are slightly curved outwards. This gives a characteristic effect of a reduction in the image size. This means that compared to a conventional mirror the wider view he may be sufficient. Parabolic mirrors are recognizable by a dividing line. The greater part of the surface is a normal mirror, while the outer part of the mirror is more curved so that the field of view is almost doubled. Even objects which for a conventional mirror would be out of view remain visible with an aspherical mirror.

Rubber mats not only have an aesthetic effect, but are a real safety feature: The non-porous surface resists liquids getting into carpet and insulation materials and enables liquids to evaporate again relatively quickly. This reduces the amount of liquid circulating in the winter, making the vehicle less likely to steam up. Less flying blind, and better vision contribute significantly to road safety.

Did you know... ?

The driver is not the only vulnerable person on the road. We have to have a partnership with pedestrians and improve coexistence. This can be improved by the shape of the front of vehicles to improve the kinetics of impact with pedestrians. A major element is the hood ornament which should not resist impact but with the use of predetermined breaking points should be easily removed. Replacement is easy from our range.

9. LIMORA VALVE GRINDER

Good performance depends on properly seated valves. Badly seated or burnt valves and worn guides and stems result in hot gas escaping under compression reducing performance and increasing engine wear. Loss of power and poor starting are some of the symptoms. The Gunson EEzi-Lap oscillating valve lapper produces gas tight seals in seconds and converts a standard rotary drill to oscillating action/grinding motion. The 22/28 mm suction heads fit most valves, an essential tool for multi-valve engines

7. ESSENTIAL BUYER'S GUIDE

Jaguar/Daimler XJ from 1994 to 2003. Written by Peter Crespin, 64 pages, with 100 illustrations, size: 270 x 210 mm, binding: paperback, language: English

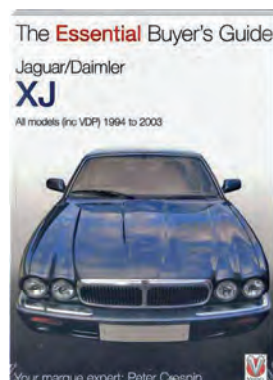

The X300 was the first serious model development in collaboration with Ford and the cars benefited in quality terms as a result. Problems do exist, however, especially with the X308 models which followed in 1997. Though they are excellent value today, it is still important to buy the right car if expensive problems are to be avoided.

This book will help you decide which car to consider and having chosen your model it will help pick a sound car from amongst those you locate and inspect. High mileage need not be a deterrent but you need to avoid neglected cars and know exactly what to look for. This book ensures you have the insight and expertise to select the best example within your budget. Each aspect of the vehicles is given an objective numerical score reflecting the car's condition. These are added to give an overall score supporting a decision to buy or leave. There is no safer way to avoid buying a bad car short of paying for a professional evaluation. This book will pay for itself.

Models covered:

Jaguar XJ6 and Sovereign (X300) 3.2 (1994-1997) • Jaguar XJ6 and Sovereign (X300) 4.0 (1994-1997) • Daimler Six (X300) 4.0 (1994-1997) • Jaguar XJR6 (X300) 4.0 (1994-1997) • Jaguar XJ12 (X300) 6.0 (1994-1997) • Daimler Double Six (X300) 6.0 (1994-1997) • Jaguar XJ8 and Sovereign (X308) 3.2 (1997-2003) • Jaguar XJ8 and Sovereign (X308) 4.0 (1997-2003) • Jaguar XJR8 (X308) 4.0 (1997-2003) • Daimler V8 (X308) 4.0 (1997-2003) • Daimler Super V8 (X308) 4.0 (1997-2003)

100 ml bottle Part no. 494084
 300 ml bottle Part no. 494085
 1 litre bottle Part no. 494086

Modern fuels attack the metal parts of the fuel supply systems. This problem applies especially to older vehicles, while in modern cars, for good reasons, more and more plastic tanks are used. The second problem relates to biogenic fuels and mixed fuels. This problem applies to owners of all ages of cars and modern cars too. In modern fuels bacteria grow in unprecedented quantities. This produces a lot of dirt, especially when the vehicle is not in regular use. The pipes gradually get blocked and the tank becomes contaminated with dirt. Rather than the drastic measure of replacing the entire fuel supply system, regular use of Bactofin will reduce the problem considerably. For vehicles which normally operate with lead-replacement or top oil, using Bactofin is just as easy and will give owners peace of mind. Bactofin also prevents any corrosion of the fuel system. Rust is completely inhibited!
